WE'RE FIGHTING FOR CHILDREN

Sioux Empire United Way invests in our community's youth. We provide quality, early childhood education and ensure that school-age youth have a safe place to be when they're not in school, but cannot be at home. Mental health care is a priority and available to students through their schools. Investing in children is investing in our community's future. Your gift to Sioux Empire United Way helps:

1,211 children are provided with a quality childcare program that provides age-appropriate care and education. The Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis documents that early childhood education is an economic investment – for every $1 spent on early education, you see a $7 return later in life.

"We love Boys & Girls Clubs so much. The staff is part of our family and I can't imagine the girls not being here." Alice is now thriving in the pre-k room and on target developmentally. Dahlia is also experiencing gains particularly in her vocabulary, talking in full sentences. She also is recognizing shapes and colors.

10,700 books are mailed to children under the age of five each month. One study reports how when children are read to for one hour per day, they enter school with a vocabulary three times larger than students who are only read to 30 hours total during their first five years.

"This kid loves to read," mother Kendra noted about her son Brantley, just before Brantley was presented with Sioux Empire United Way's 2,000,000th book through Dolly Parton's Imagination Library program.

"As a new grandpa whose granddaughter has now received six books from Imagination Library, I love those moments of sitting and reading to her," stated Dr. Dan Heinemann, 2019 Sioux Empire United Way Board Chair. "We learn to read, so we can then read to learn, and that is why this program is so important, to create that love of reading at an early age."

409 counseling sessions are provided each month to students at more than 40 are schools. This enables students to have mental health care in their school.

"We are so excited about the opportunity to provide access to mental health care in our local schools through this innovative program. PATH is a great example of people in our community working together to solve local programs and of what makes our local United Way so special," said Rebecca Kiesow-Knudsen, Vice President of Community Services at Lutheran Social Services of South Dakota.

WE'RE FIGHTING FOR VULNERABLE ADULTS

"Before my husband got sick, I took good care of myself, but when he couldn't take care of himself anymore – I forgot about me." A caregiver noted her appreciation of the support she has found. United Way is committed to providing assistance to help vulnerable adults maintain their independence and their sense of community.

226,000 meals are provided to people ages 60 and over in a congregate or home-delivered setting. Older adults require nutrient-rich foods for healthy aging and prevention of chronic disease.

"My mom is 99 years old and still lives alone in her own home. She loves being here, but can barely get around even with a walker. She is on a limited income so Meals on Wheels has been a Godsend. These nutritious tasty meals provide her with usually enough food for two meals. She looks forward to them and the interaction with the delivery people. Thank you for the much needed service from the bottom of our hearts!" – Daughter of Home Delivered Recipient

69 older adults are paired with a volunteer for social and recreational purposes or receive routine phone call checks – which helps reduce feelings of loneliness and increase their connection to our community.

Sharon has expressed on several occasions how thankful she is for the Better Together program. Thanks to her volunteer, she has been able to experience her new community. She has been to Falls Park, Christmas at the Cathedral, the Sculpture Walk, and various concerts. Sharon was even able to visit her family's homestead in Madison with Donna. She has shared that she never would have been able to do any of these things as she did not know anyone who would be able to take her, let alone someone who would enjoy the experiences with her.

279 individuals with disabilities are provided with social, recreational, and quality of life activities to improve their relationships with peers and our community. Inclusive recreation allows for improvements in physical well-being, prevention of secondary conditions, and social growth.

Natalie has been assisting Shirley in working on the garden together for two years. They love working on the garden, not only growing vegetables, but also growing a friendship. Their time together is enriching to everyone involved. Natalie enjoys volunteering and being a mentor because she loves to teach Shirley how to grow items in the garden. Shirley loves working on the garden and seeing all the harvest at the end of the season!

WE'RE FIGHTING FOR PEOPLE IN CRISIS

In times of uncertainty, at-risk populations need a place to turn. Stable housing, access to food, and mental health services are all made possible through your support of Sioux Empire United Way.

286 children and their families participated in an early intervention program that addresses family health, mental care, and stability needs.

"Our girls have established positive relationships through counseling and continue to learn how to take care of themselves mentally and physically. We continue to grow as their parents and as spouses through counseling. We have had support to get us through many evaluations and an autism diagnosis for our younger daughter. We continually learn how to better ourselves individually and as a family," said an Avera Family Wellnes Program participant.

3,627 individuals had access to mental health counseling services and mental telehealth services.

"Having access to affordable counseling has changed my life. I started counseling due to unhealthy relationships with my parents and a challenging work situation. I came in feeling worthless and not really sure if counseling would help. I realized the benefit of therapy right away," said a Family Service client.

48,658 calls/emails/texts for information and resources were received by 2-1-1 last year, with an additional 31,036 inquiries made online. Community members can find listening and support, as well as resources for a variety of needs.

"It would be great if we can all hold onto the true importance of community and never take that for granted again," said Janet Kittams, CEO of Helpline Center in regards to her our community's response to COVID-19.
